Hundreds To Witness The Coronation Of Jamie Redwood '41 May Queen

Graves-Darter Honored By GW University

Mr. Oscar H. Darter, Head of the History Department, and Mr. E. Boyd Graves of the Education Department will be initiated as charter members in the new chapter of Phi Delta Kappa to be established at George Washington University on Wednesday, April 30. This national honorary fraternity will initiate 50 members. A banquet will be held for the charter members.

Mr. Darter will not be present for this event as he is scheduled to address the Falmouth, Virginia Parent-Teachers' Association the same evening. His topic for the Falmouth meeting will be "Realities Facing the United States in the Present Crisis."

Bullet Receives Critical Judging

The Bulletin recently received the scores and comments that it received in the contest of the National Scholastic Press Association which was held in Blacksburg, Virginia, in January of this year. The final score received gave the Bulletin an honor rating of second class or good.

The sports page received the highest rating and the editorial page the lowest. The coverage and treatment of sports was given a rating of "excellent" and the judges commented, "For a girls' school, your sports coverage is very good." The editorial column was rated as "fair" and the judges said there was not enough editorial matter. They suggested, "Write editorials on topics that are in the news, topics that the students are talking about."

The judges stressed the point that the Bulletin was lacking in interviews. They suggested that there should be more news of the faculty and its work. The interviews in those early issues that were rated were given a score of "fair." The organization of news stories was rated as "very good."

The Bulletin was criticized because there was not enough action in the heads. It was suggested that there should have been something like "Band Wins $100 Placing Second as Governor Watches" instead of the original head of "Band Wins Honors at Festival in Suffolk."

This will give the students some idea as to what some of the leaders in journalism thought of the Bulletin, and will also give a picture of the things toward which the Bulletin has been striving.

Lady Astor declares that her husband is one of the best of men, but complains because he will never tell her how much income he has, putting her off with the statement that "it varies." She adds: "His income may vary, but his answer never does."

Alpha Psi Sigma Elects Mary Steck As New President

Members of Alpha Psi Sigma convened on Tuesday evening to elect their officers for the coming year. They selected as their new president, Mary E. Steck, a junior this year, who has served as treasurer of Alpha Psi Sigma since last fall. Miss Steck is well-known on the campus both for her high scholastic record and for her active interest in sports. She has also been an enthusiastic member of other organizations of the hill.

Other officers were elected as follows: Vice-president, Betty Willoughby; secretary, Grace Fox; statistical secretary, Alice Kean; and treasurer, Sally Coleman. Of these officers, Grace Fox is also an old officer since she served as statistical secretary during the greater part of this last year.

In addition to the election of officers other matters of business were taken up by the president, Hilda Clark. Following the business, a group of the members gave an entertainment, consisting of a mock orchestra and a mock opera. The program was most hilarious and proved most enjoyable to the audience.

At the May meeting, the last of the year, the new officers will preside and will furnish the program.

'41 House Presidents

Last week the house presidents of Virginia Hall and Betty Lewis Hall were elected by the Freshman class.

Emma Jane Davie of South Norfolk, Virginia, has been elected as house president of Virginia Hall for next year. This year Emma Jane was house president of Cornell Hall.

Ann Cook of Northfork, West Virginia, will be the new house president of Betty Lewis dormitory.

COLLEGE SHOPPE PRIVILEGES SUSPENDED

65 members of the sophomore and junior classes were penalized by student government Thursday. College Shop privileges were withheld for a period of one week from students failing to appear at a meeting for the election of next year's house presidents.

Those who did not respond to the council call on Thursday will be penalized even further.

SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE ON FOR NEXT EPAULET

A subscription drive has been launched to increase the next issue of the Epaullet by 100.

A senior theme will be carried out in this issue which it to be the most finished product of the year dedicated to the Seniors, it is expected that most of the workers will come from the fourth year class.

Students are urged to get final materials in by Wednesday, May 7.

'Not In Our Stars' Played In Monroe

Mary Washington Players and Alpha Psi Omega, National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity presented "Not in Our Stars" by June Stoll, talented senior at Mary Washington College. This performance was given in Monroe Little Theater at 8:00 p. m., May 1.

The title of the play, NOT IN OUR STARS, was suggested by Shakespeare's JULIUS CAESAR—second scene of act one when Cassius says to Brutus, "The fault, dear Brutus, lies not in our stars, but in ourselves, that we are underlings."

This play is sponsored by the Mary Washington College Chapter of Alpha Psi Omega. Dorothy Harrington is the student director, Esther Cain the technical director, and Mary Vaughan Heazel is business manager. The play is the product of a class project in Play Production and is the first entirely original play ever presented at Mary Washington College.

Who Are Outstanding Commercial Students

At M. W. C?

Sigma Tau Chi Holds Commercial Contest For Mary Washington College Students On Sat., May 17.

On Saturday, May 17, Sigma Tau Chi, will again sponsor a contest. This time not statewide, but campus-wide. There will be contests that every student can enter — a chance to show those qualities that make for an ideal secretary. Blanks will be passed in all the commercial classes. Be sure you sign your name and indicate the contest, or contests you wish to enter. Ten first prizes will be awarded, and you can be a winner.

Watch The Bulletin for a schedule of events.

Alpha Tau Pi

At a recent meeting of Alpha Tau Pi, elementary teachers' fraternity, Ann Givler of Norfolk was elected president for the coming year. Other officers are Alise Howerton, secretary, Molly Case, treasurer, Midge Clapp, historian, and Ann Cook, sergeant-at-arms. Several girls will be pledged in the near future.

Musical Scores Composed By. Levin Houston, III

Mr. Levin Houston III has composed extensively in most all of the musical forms. He has written orchestral compositions which were played by the Richmond Symphony and the Virginia W. P. A. Little Symphony. The Virginia W. P. A. Little Symphony played Hopak by Mr. Houston during the Convention of the Virginia Music Teachers Association held at Mary Washington College last fall. The Andante from Violin Sonata in F won first place in the state-wide contest held by the Virginia Federation of Music Clubs. Dithyramb from his First Piano Suite won the prize for piano compositions in the same contest, as well as the Sweepstakes prize for the most distinguished composition submitted. The Glee Club of Mary Washington College has sung many choral compositions of his, and his piano compositions have been played in recital by such pianists as Donald Bolger and Helen Betelle. Miss Ray Lev, recently heard on the Lyceum program at Mary Washington College, has added three of his compositions to her repertoire. Music for Joan of Arc is, however, his most ambitious work to date. It is a full length ballet which requires about an half hour for performance. The cast includes about 65 dancers, and treats Joan of Arc from the time she first hears the heavenly voices to the time when she succeeds in having the Dauphin crowned King of France. The music and libretto are by Mr. Houston. The choreography is by Miss Mildred Stewart and is performed by her dance group.

Mary Washington College Double Sextet Sings at Kenmore During Garden Week

The double-sextet of Mary Washington College was invited to sing at Kenmore during Garden Week. They appeared on the lawn daily at 4:00 in the afternoon. Each day their selections constituted a different period in American history. On Monday, April 28, songs typical of the American Indian were presented. On Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday they sang in Market Square at 12:30. The Sextet is directed by Miss Marion Chauncy of the Department of Music of Mary Washington College, and accompanied by Edna Reed, a major in music. Members of the sextet are: Dorabelle Forrest, Virginia Clarke, Betty Parshall, Jayne Anderson, Edna Braithwaite, Jane Calhoun, Betty Anthony, Beulah Spain, Katherine Bauman, Kathryn Wygal, Leah Fleet, Marjorie Seay, Mary Unruh, and Dorothy Knauss.

Miss Stewart Director Of Joan Of Arc Pageant

Tomorrow hundreds of friends and relatives will assemble in the amphitheatre to witness one of the most spectacular and original May Day programs ever presented at Mary Washington. Under the untiring efforts of Miss Mildred Stewart, head of the physical education department, and Mr. Levin Houston, a member of the music department, a program of colorful dances and musical scores have been arranged.

Miss Jamie Redwood, of Mobile, Alabama, will reign over the days festivities. Aloise Brill of Winchester, Virginia, will serve as maid of honor.

The May Court

The members of the court include the following girls: Jamie Redwood, May Queen. Aloise Brill, Maid of Honor.

Maids: Alyce Amory, Barbara Barraclough, Edith Beamer, Alice Burton, Mary Grace Cureton, Lucy Dickinson, Nancy Duval, Mary Currin Eskridge, Jane Garrett, Lindley Goodrick, Annette Hodnett, Jean Ivery, Jane Jenks, Jane Ellen Johnston, Marian Jones, Nancy Mann, Martha Minges, Mary Mundy, Beverly Roberts, Mary Ellen Seaborn, Mamie Stahle, Marjorie Stickles, Winifred Watkins, Eleanor Yount.

Train Bearers: Mary George Gay, Anne Parker.

Flower Girls: Betsy Jean Hurt, Martha Sneed.

Crown Bearer: Dulcy Houston. Miss Dulcy Houston, crown bearer, is the small daughter of Levin Houston III, composer of music for the event.

DANCERS

Joan of Arc is the theme of the pageant being presented. The little French maid of Orleans is portrayed by Myron Russell in the dancing role and Dorothy Harrington in the dramatic interpretation. Miss Russell's solo dance is entirely original as are all or parts of most of the dances, including Edith Donnan's jester work.

Costumes for the affair are striking and varied. In order of appearance the dancers are:

Myron Russell, who does a pastoral dance, The Peasants, Girls—Daphne Crump, Dorothy Ellwell, Evelyn White, Betty Carter, Mildred McPherson. Boys—Isabel Elliot, Rose Orts-Gonzalez, Ellen Lillis, Nell Randolph Harrison, Marguerite Buchanan, Carolyn Pittman. The Peasants do a country dance. The Ladies and Gentlemen of Court. Ladies—Lillis Scott, Charlene Cochran, Betty Boyes, Evelyn Bird, Virginia Marino, Eleanor Wilbourne, Phyllis Quinby, Ann Cook, Gentlemen—Catherine Bauman, Lois Dent, Bertha Dickinson, Barbara Greenhill, Virginia Jarvis, Dorothy Graf Virginia Westlake. The Ladies and Gentlemen of Court do a Pavane. Jester—Edith Donnan—Jester's Dance.

Drummers—Midge Clapp, Ada Clement.

Pages—Ilvie Haynie, Sally Falls. Halberdiers—Billie Morris, Jean Jopkins, Joan Shafer, Martha Sinclair, Mary Anne Meyer, Francis

ATTENTION SUN BATHERS!

Above the indoor swimming pool can be seen scores of sun bathers every day attaining that smooth golden tint we love so well. But such a sight will soon be a thing of the past, if there is not more regard paid to said roof garden. At present there are empty Coca-Cola bottles strewn all over. The trash can is full and brimming over while the excess refuse keeps company with the coc bottles in every corner. Yes, it's an unpleasant sight so let's do something about it pretty quickly. We don't want our sun bathing privilege denied us and just a little picking up after ourselves will do the trick in keeping our sun tans intact.

A Word To The Wise.

KEEP GRASS CLEAN

And speaking of appearance, where is that cooperation we were going to show in keeping the campus free of candy wrappers and note book paper? And weren't we going to stay off the grass on the way to class. Especially around Chandler Hall the paper situation is becoming bad again. All over the campus, new grass seed has been planted by the walks. Let's go on a campaign to walk on the walks and give the grass a chance.

Ada Pal

Dear Ada:

I go with two boys, one of whom has a car and the other does not. Even though I prefer the one without a car, and almost love him, I am compelled to have more dates with the other one since he has a car. What remedy can you offer?

Ruthie

Dear Ruthie:

Have you ever heard that charity begins by staying at home? No, I didn't think you had. At any rate, if you haven't a car of your own to drive—it's always permissible—the only solution I can suggest is roller skates.

Ada

Dear Ada:

I am going to attend the prom with the boyfriend of my best girl friend. Just how should I treat him and still be fair to my girl friend?

Kitty

Dear Kitty:

That depends upon who you are and where your sense of duty lies. Remember, all is fair in love and war, and there is also a little doctrine concerning the survival of the fittest, self-preservation, etc. Somehow, I can't believe you are so very honorable that you would rather keep a girl friend than win a husband. After all, any woman who lends her man should be aware of the chance she is taking.

Ada

Dear Ada:

I used to go with a boy whose brother called me "sister." Now I am going with the brother and he still calls me sister." You can see the situation is awkward if not embarrassing.

Bailey

Dear Bailey:

Of all the people on this campus you manage to get yourself into the most awkward situations of anyone I know. You might try sending him a definition of "sister" signed anonymously. After all, though, Bailey, if he is a good catch I don't see why you would not rather be called "sister" than to hurt his feelings and lose him. You can also introduce yourself as an only child, even if you aren't. My motto these days, however, is that if you have a man, hold him, for today, more than ever, nothing is certain.

Art Club Sponsors Trip To Congress and American Louvre

A trip to the Corcoran and the National Galleries of Art in Washington was sponsored by the Art Club on Sunday, April 27. Members and other interested girls left by chartered bus at 1:30 and returned after having dinner in Alexandria that evening.

At the Corcoran the girls viewed the Seventeenth Biennial Exhibition of Contemporary American Oil Paintings, which included works by such well known artists as Thomas H. Benton, John Carroll, John Stewart Curry, Guy Pene du Bois, Alexander Brook, Edward Hopper and many others.

The group was invited to cast their votes for the picture they considered best. The artist whose picture receives the greatest number of votes will be rewarded a prize of $200, known as the "popular prize" and given by the gallery.

Students View Skylights

Only a few precious moments were spent in the National Gallery of Art, termed the American Louvre, because of closing time. During the few minutes allowed to them, the girls roamed through a few of the four and a half acres of oak-floored galleries fitted with comfortable, upholstered sofas and glimpsed world famous paintings done by masters such as Sir Joshua Reynolds, Frans Hals, Ruebens and Van Dyck.

They also had time to notice the laminated glass skylights, letting in diffused sunlight by day and artificial sunlight by night. They missed seeing, however, the tiled cafeteria in the basement, where staff and public can snatch a sandwich between expeditions.

Andrew Mellon Gallery

The gallery, donated by the late Andrew W. Mellon, is the largest marble building in the world and spreads its great length over 782 ft. along Constitution Avenue.

Besides the $50,000,000 collection of Mellon, the building houses 5-10-25 storeman Samuel Henry Kress' collection of Italian Art, one of the largest and most comprehensive in the world and valued at $30,000,000.

Like the Louvre in Paris, Washington's National Gallery was intended to include only works of the past. A rigid rule excluding the work of all artists who had not been dead for 20 years tabooed all moderns.

On Wednesday afternoon of this week the Junior class met to elect their representative to the Student Council for next year.

Margaret Marshall of Washington, D. C. was elected as the Senior class representative to the Student Council for next year. Margaret is majoring in home economics and this year she served as vice-president of the Mathew Fontain Maury Science Club.

Members of the Athenaeum, the classical club, last evening met to elect their officers for the coming year. The new officers are: president, Katherine Nutt; vice-president, Marjanette Kleinsmith; secretary, Maxine Ruckman, and treasurer, Betty Collins.

The final meeting of the year will be held later in the month and will be a picnic for all of the members.

doesn't care—
He laughs when I run after it.

A third wind I know is a playful imp
Who walls and whistles around corners,

Then is gone,
And when I lower the window to shut him out,

He hides in the tops of the trees.

SNOOPER SCOOPS

Does anybody know what that cute little "article" Becky Ellis wears on her sweater stands for?

Sunday night after Easter Dances at V. M. I. the cadets and minks had quite a row. I wonder if Alice Williams or Jean Dougherty could have helped cause any hard feeling between the two schools!

Myron Russell had three invitations to Va. to hear T. Dorsey but couldn't go—why? because she already had another date. Too bad, but Myron didn't seem to mind.

Among those attending Easter Hops at V. M. I. were "Jen" Cobb, Virginia Westlake, Linday Goolrick, Edith Donnan, Alice Williams, "Margo" Berry, Maggie Swetting, Dean Dougherty and Daphne Crump — from what I hear from those girls there's no place quite like it.

With spring comes the revival of life and love. You can look at Martha Minges and see that. It's still Lyman we know.

* * *

One of the "Commanders" who played for the German is quoted as saying, "Never have I seen so many pretty girls per square foot in my life", and girls, that's quite a compliment.

Billie Morris seems to be pretty fond of Randolph-Macon 'cause she has three little men down there. I just hope they aren't all in the same frat because that might cause complications.

Why is it that Betty Rogers is so interested in horse racing and a certain night club owner in New York?

* * *

Beth Kosakowsky's week-end I hear is full with loads of personality, crazy, and talks a lot. Just her type, I think.

Lenora Haller has a new addition in the way of a picture in her room. When is he coming up again Lenora?

Donna Shearer's date for Cotillion I hear was plenty cute and Miss Shearer it's rumored is attending hops at Annapolis with him right soon.

Shirley Lawrence certainly knows how to get her man. She meets him, sees him over the week-end and he leaves minus his frat pin and nothing but Shirley on his mind.

Izabel Elliot hasn't gone back on the academy has she? She seems to be beating a path to the U. of Md. these days.

Estelle Whitehead is really very excited this week-end. A very good reason too, and she hasn't seen him for three years.

Have you ever noticed the resemblance between Betsy Row and Scarlet O'Hara? I just wondered.

Dottie Harrington made her own recording of "I Give You My Word" to send to someone in Hawaii—not for one of the natives either.

I think someone owes Martie Hykes an apology—because she didn't hear from someone else's date—and she feels pretty bad about the insinuation.

Ruthie Brichett is pinned up now to Louis from William and Mary but it's strictly on a friendship basis—oh yeah!

One can never go to any school that someone doesn't ask about Aloise Brill, Miss Brill please, your formula for success.

Betty Carter is really one cute kid from Washington and I think Washington realizes it.

Marion Powelson was surprised when Cliff sent her one of his own coats. Does he realize that her love is growing cold?

Anne Givier and Nancy Mann dated two gentlemen with the same moniker for Cotillion. We can't find out which of the Ray Nelsons was the better man because Mann won't talk.

Notes: Jamie's date for Cotillion whose name was Holt; before the evening was over dubbed "grab-a-holt"—Brill mad about Annapolis—Paul sent two orchids to Ruth Seay—Mary Neely and Connie Carh smoking pipes.

Ginger Bennett going to Tech. Seniors this week-end with many other women.

Dr. Francis, recent head of the Home Economics Department, was known and admired for her ability, her energy, and a sincere interest in her work and the department with which she was affiliated. It was always her desire to keep making Home Economics at Mary Washington a bigger and more efficient department. During her years here, she had done much to bring her aspirations closer.

Those who worked with and under her feel very keenly her loss and will esteem the memory of her and her good work in the college.

Fredericksburg Dons Boxwood Atmosphere For Garden Week

With the arrival of Garden week, Fredericksburg dons even more of that box-wood atmosphere and turns back the pages to the days when the country people brought their wares to Market Square and set up shop. At Kenmore, at the Rising Sun Tavern, at the home of Mary Washington, there is an unusual bustle as visitors and garden loving enthusiasts make the rounds of these charming old places.

Mary Washington girls have been participating in the Garden Week Activity by sewing tea in the afternoon at Kenmore, and by singing old selections each day in Market Square and in other spots of interest.

As a means of protection from animals in Yellowstone Park, one should carry sugar instead of a gun. Mr. and Mrs. Sid Collins, passing through the park with a supply of groceries, were held up by a big bear. It's not football weather but have you heard about the new school of thought by Yale's alumnae to give the game back to the boys? This would eliminate much criticism of coaches of losing teams as he will not be allowed on the field but must remain in the stands while the captain takes the whole responsibility. Ogden Miller, Yale's athletic director, placed the entire matter in the hands of rival coaches.

Another football item! Its T time at Virginia. Next fall Coach Frank Murray of the University of Virginia will send his backfield on the field in the famous T formation. The idea was gotten from the success of Sanford on the West Coast.

Georgetown University's in and out nine went out and was defeated 11-8 by Temple. It was Georgetown's second defeat in eight games and they were behind from the first. Oddly enough Temple has lost only one game and that to Rutgers who were soundly beaten by Georgetown a week ago.

The University of Virginia nine defeated V. M. I. 8-2 bunching five runs into the sixth inning. Home runs were hit by Johnny Wray of V. M. I. and George Sargeant of Virginia.

Al Wheeler held the University of Virginia nine to six hits and one run while his Richmond mates were collecting seven hits for a total of five runs. Captain Ned Butler led the Richmond hitters with two safeties in three official trips to the plate.

Navy netmen downed the University of Virginia racketeers 6-3 making a clean sweep of the double matches. Hunt of Navy was the outstanding performer. (Continued on page 4)

M.W.C. Girls See "La Boheme" In Richmond

Mary Washington girls' taste for grand opera was satisfied Thursday evening, May 1, when several girls accompanied by Dr. Hermon R. Reichenbach traveled to Richmond to hear "La Boheme" presented by the Metropolitan Opera Company at the Mosque.

For the first time in 11 years the famed New York company came to Richmond, one of the seven cities to be visited on its spring tour.

The "Met" came in two special trains with four carloads of scenery following its tour to Baltimore, Boston, Cleveland, Dallas, New Orleans and Atlanta. After the performance of "The Marriage of Figaro" on Sunday night the company will return to New York for two concluding performances the next day.

Singers include Grace Moore

Singers heard in "La Boheme" were Grace Moore, Charles Kulman, Richard Bonelli and Norman Cordon. The opera, written by Puccini in 1895, has been a great favorite with the public and with such singers as Geraldine Farrar, Lucrezi Bori, Frances Alda, Enrico Caruso, Giovanni Martinelli and Antonio Scotti.

The Metropolitan Orchestra of 80 musicians under the direction of Gennaro Papi played at the performance.

Mrs. Rose Trumelty, 93, of San Francisco, recently filed a petition for citizenship. She is a native of Ireland, and only recently discovered that she was not naturalized.

Blonde Wynn Murray, the throated thrush of Fred Allen's CBS program has been named "Miss Americanism" by students of John Marshall College. Wynn can't explain it "unless it's because I speak to everybody." Incidentally, in the past year and a half Wynn has lost 85 pounds. This should be encouraging news for co-eds who are going through the streamlining process.

George Washington High — Alexandria Wins Top Honors

The Commercial Department of Mary Washington College is directed by Dr. James Harvey Dodd and has a student enrollment of approximately 500 students. This department sponsored this contest which was the first event of this kind to be held on the "Hill." The purpose of such a meet was to stimulate interest in public school Business Education, and this department of the college proposes to hold such an event annually. 200 boys and girls with their instructors, representing 20 high schools in the state of Virginia, attended and took part in this first meet. Students competed in typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, penmanship and business information. Eleven young women applied and took the office personality contest. Three appropriate prizes were awarded in each event and a silver cup was given to the George Washington High School of Alexandria, the school that gained the most credits.

Mr. Roy Hopkins, the General Manager of the Virginia Power and Light Company, conducted the interviews of the contestants in office personality. The judges were Mrs. Charles Lake Bushnell, Dean of Women of Mary Washington College; Mr. Rankin, Southwest Publishing Company, and Mrs. Martha Snyder, Mary Washington College.

The winners of the contests were:

First-Year Typewriting: Ruth Vest, Lane High School, Charlottesville, Virginia.

Second - Year Typewriting: Charles Chapman, Dayton High School, Dayton, Virginia.

First-Year Bookkeeping: Lavette McParland, James Monroe High School, Fredericksburg, Virginia.

Softball Closes With Play Day

The Squaks, captained by Jo Inskeep, 8-6 in a rousing four inning game, Monday afternoon on the athletic field to officially close the softball playing season here on the campus. The game was followed by a supper at the Cabin for all participants.

Sothpaw Haynie pitched a beautiful game for the Squaks having grand control of a fast ball and a fast breaking curve. She also contributed a home run to her team's core.

The game reached a dramatic climax in the first of the fourth, the Campus Cats on the tail end of the score 8-5. With two men on and the tying run as the bat, Kat Ferguson tripled driving in the two runs only to called out on an appeal play to the base empire because she had failed to touch first base.

The supper at the cabin was delicious consisting of hot dogs, all you could eat, rolls, potato chips, soft drinks and ice cream sandwiches.

The line-up for the teams were:

Squaks	Campus Cats
Ellett, 1B	Ferguson 1B
Kilby 2B	Poage 2B
Woodward LF	Porch P
Price RF	Inskeep 3B
Pugh 3B	Nelson LF-C
Haynie P	Lochr C-LF
